

STORAGE DEVICE HAVING A LATERAL STORAGE DIRECTOR

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

5 A storage device such as a disk drive is provided with a lateral storage director. The lateral storage director is capable of self-assessing the status of the storage device. The lateral storage director also enables one storage device to transfer data files to another storage device over a communications link without the supervision of a host computer.